

Pulse interaction in modified FitzHugh-Nagumo equations

Shin-ichiro Ei

Hokkaido University

I consider the motion of traveling pulses arising in cardiac muscles. It is known that a single traveling pulse in cardiac muscles is stable in node type, but the interaction between multi- traveling pulses is oscillatory. In this talk, a theoretical framework to realize such a motion is proposed and numerically checked by using the modified FitzHugh-Nagumo equations.